Take Steps to Fight Diabetes

Diabetes Association of Greater Cleveland

Inspired by the smash hit TV show Dancing With The Stars, the Diabetes Association of Greater Cleveland presents “Take Steps to Fight Diabetes” on Saturday, November 14th at Windows On The River. The event will feature WEWS, TV 5’s Reporter Alicia Scicolone as the MC for the evening, several of Cleveland Magazine’s February “Sexy Singles” and local celebrities paired with some of the finest professional dancers, organized by Rebecca Sweet, owner of Viva Dance! Studio in a very entertaining competition program. Which couple will have the right chemistry? Who will impress the judges for their favorite routine? Find out at “Take Steps to Fight Diabetes”, the fundraiser to benefit the Diabetes Association of Greater Cleveland’s mission of improving the lives of people affected by diabetes by leading the Northeast Ohio community in its prevention, management and cure:

- The steps our diabetes educators take to support individuals and families affected by type 1 or type 2 diabetes by offering self-management techniques, emergency diabetes resources and education programs.
- The steps Camp Ho Mita Koda takes to offer life altering camp experiences for children with type 1 or type 2 diabetes. Campers gain valuable knowledge and skills to improve their diabetes management.
- The steps Dietrich Diabetes Research Institute takes to increase research collaboration in Northeast Ohio.
- The steps taken to increase the number of physicians, researchers, and allied health professionals we serve through our professional programs.

We need your help to take the imperative steps to reach our vision for our community:

- Every person with diabetes has access to the knowledge and tools to self-manage the disease throughout life.
- All children with diabetes know that they are not alone and have year round access to the education and psychosocial support they need to manage their disease.
- Professionals who care for people with diabetes have access to the most current research findings and standards of diabetes care.
- All people are aware of the risk factors, signs and symptoms of diabetes and seek care quickly when they recognize these signs in themselves or a loved one.
- The search for improved diabetes care and a cure is supported, facilitated, and promoted to those who will benefit from clinical applications of such research.
- Educators, employers, public servants and the community at large are aware of and accommodate the needs of those with diabetes.
